Scientist or athlete

So what do you think takes more hard work ...a scientist or athlete ? I would choose athlete because they play hard . Second reason is they work to have lot of money. Third reason is they have to work as a team.

My first reason is they play hard because they play like a hour or two . I played soccer, and I got tired of play . Athlete get tired to and scientist don't. This shows how athletes work hardest.

My second reason they work hard to get a of money . My dad has to jobs and he have to work all night and some time day . Athlete have to work at nigth they play game for the the fan they run train do weights in the day . That show how they work hard.

My last reason athlete have to work together and work hard to win game.I played soccer and you need work together and are coach told us we need to work together.It show hard work to together.

So which do pick the laze scientist or awesome athlete ? You sould pick the athlete if don't you are laze don't pick the scientist ?